Eloise:

As the CIA Representative to NFIB, I have signed off on the draft DCID 1/2. I believe that your concerns can be taken care of by using the interim change procedure. Since you did raise the issue that you hadn't enough time to read the document, I hope that you will make it a matter of priority interest to review it. If you have serious difficulty with it as it now stands, please do not hesitate to let me know.

FOREWORD

This attachment to DCID 1/2, a fundamental component of the Intelligence Community Planning System, establishes a priorities classification system. The document is issued in compliance with the provisions of E.O. 11905 and National Security Council Intelligence Directive No. 1 regarding intelligence priorities.

The requirements categories and their associated priorities are under continuing review--they can and will be revised upon validation of a substantiated change nomination from any member of the Intelligence Community. Apart from those unique requirements developed in times of tension or crisis, all specific substantive national intelligence requirements lend themselves to prioritization according to the classification system contained in this document.

The fact that this document impacts on all activities within the Intelligence Community engaged in collection or production requires that it be given the widest dissemination.
